Reds' Troop Peak Looms End Of Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told worried senators today that he expects the enemy troop buildup to reach its height in Viet Nam at the end of this year.
Basing his assessment largely on estimates of how big a force the Communists can keep supplied in the face of U.S. air opposition, McNamara used it as a major factor for this conclusion:
"I do not believe that we are facing in Viet Nam an unlimited, open-ended commitment to a major land war in Asia."
McNamara appeared at a closed session to answer questions of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee whose probe of administration Southeast Asian policy has been the storm center of debate.
McNamara addressed himself to some of the questions that have been raised in the committee's previous public hearings—such as whether the Vietnamese conflict could spread into a war with China.
McNamara told the committee the United States has done everything possible militarily and diplomatically "to make it unmistakably clear that there is no justification for Communist China to involve itself in the war in Viet Nam."
But he said that given the history of militant actions by Communist China "it would be irresponsible for me to say that we run no risk of war with China arising from our efforts to defend South Viet Nam from aggression."

One task facing McNamara was a defense of his own announcement Wednesday of a new 20,000-man increase in U.S. fighting forces in Viet Nam.
McNamara was expected to be called upon to support Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's assertion Wednesday night that the "tide has begun to turn in our favor" in the effort to halt Viet Cong aggression and to bolster the South Vietnamese economy.
One of the pressing questions at a closed meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee appeared likely to revolve around why—with 215,000 Americans already committed to the struggle—the Communists still are able to call the turn on the escalation of hostilities.
McNamara told a news conference Wednesday that if need be the American manpower commitment in Viet Nam could be boosted to 350,000 without ordering Reservists to active duty.
The defense chief said that although there are now about 300,000 U.S. servicemen in Southeast Asia, American fighting forces are "fully capable of meeting our commitments" around the world.

3 Vietnamese Executed

Oil Tanker Shot Up By Viet Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Using ambush tactics on water and land, the Viet Cong shot up a small oil tanker near Saigon today and killed at least 11 Vietnamese policemen in the 17th Parallel demilitarized zone.
In a vacant lot on Saigon's outskirts, authorities found the bodies of three young government employees executed by the Viet Cong. Their hands were tied behind their backs and they had been shot.
U.S. officials reported that air operations against North Viet Nam and in the South cost three American planes in the past three days. An A4 Skyhawk and an F4 Phantom jet, both from the 7th Fleet carrier Ranger, disappeared in heavy overcast over the North on Tuesday and their three crewmen were listed as missing.
A light spotter plane crashed in the South Wednesday 40 miles northwest of Qui Nhon on a reconnaissance flight for the 1st Cavalry. Airmobile, Division, Two Americans aboard were killed.
On the ground, U.S. forces combed the jungles and rice paddies for the Communists but stirred up little action. The 101st Airborne Division's 1st Brigade killed six Viet Cong in operations around Tuy Hoa, a coastal town 240 miles northeast of Saigon. The paratroopers came upon two Viet Cong dispensaries, a loudspeaker system and a bird, which they proudly identified as the first enemy carrier pigeon captured in the war.

A reinforced South Vietnamese battalion, including rangers, brushed with the Viet Cong seven miles northeast of Quang Ngai, a provincial capital near the coast 340 miles northeast of Saigon. By nightfall, 22 Communists were reported killed against light government losses.
Other Reds were said to have inflicted moderate casualties on a Vietnamese regional - force platoon 10 miles southeast of Quang Tri City, in the northernmost province.
Communist gunners hidden in mangrove swamps on the west bank of a ship channel 15 miles southeast of Saigon raked the self-propelled oil barge Paloma with a barrage from recoilless rifles and 50-caliber machine guns in the second unsuccessful attempt in five days to block the inland capital's main link to the sea.

In First 'JUMP' Meeting

Homosexuality Problems Are Discussed By Bettis

In a blunt, hard-hitting presentation, Columbiana County Prosecutor J. Warren Bettis laid the problem of homosexuality on the line Wednesday night in the first of a series of five public church-sponsored meetings at which community problems will be discussed.
An audience of nearly 500 was on hand as "Operation JUMP—Joining Up For Mutual Progress"—got under way at the First Church of Christ.
The second in the series will be held next Wednesday at the Trinity United Presbyterian Church, with Don Roberts, administrator of the County Mental Health Clinic, the speaker.
As a partial answer to the expanding "homo" problem, Bettis urged the public to press state legislators for enactment of a law which would call for the establishment of a separate mental institution to house those inflicted instead of penal institutions in an effort to speed rehabilitation and the return to a normal, useful life.

Bettis read the actual testimony of a convicted homosexual, relating how he became involved in perversion at an early age, then introduced other young men to acts of sodomy and incest.
When asked if a pervert could be cured, he said he had no sure answer since many times after lengthy treatment the tendencies and weaknesses reoccur.
In discussing a local "homosexual club," the speaker explained legal prosecution cannot be taken as long as there is no violation of the law. He emphasized, however, that the

Defense Chief Admits Some Viet Failures Part Of Concepts, Methods Failed In War Test, He Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara acknowledges that some concepts and methods forged by him and his experts have failed to meet the test of the Viet Nam war.
This is a rare admission by the Pentagon chief who normally wears an air of total self-assurance.
"We have to develop new methods to meet problems for which we had old answers," McNamara told a news conference Wednesday. "Old answers were not applying."
"These new methods do require changes in procedures, changes in policies, changes in habits and thought."
The defense secretary did not specify what problem areas he was dealing with.
However, some of his associates said that the concept of using Reservists in crises had undergone a drastic change.
It was apparent that the current intention to deal with the rising manpower demands of the Viet Nam war without calling up Reservists stemmed from a desire to avoid creating turbulence in U.S. civilian life and the economy, as well as from the growth of the regular forces available and planned.

McNamara's news conference was called to put to rest any idea that the United States has overextended itself in Southeast Asia and has left itself vulnerable in other areas of the world.
McNamara showed unusual irritation in a couple of instances.
He tangled with reporter Clark Mollenhoff when Mollenhoff persisted in quizzing him about the critical views of Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss.
In a bitter exchange, Mollenhoff accused McNamara of dodging and the defense secretary snapped "I unfortunately haven't been able to dodge all the rocks you have thrown at me for five years."
Mollenhoff, of the Cowles Publications, has written articles questioning, among other things, McNamara's actions in the matter of the TFX fighter plane contract.

In Pennsylvania Legislature

Reapportionment Bill Due Senate Vote

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Senate, moving quickly to meet the timetable, set the stage for passage of a compromise congressional reapportionment bill at a midnight session tonight.
Tuesday, Philadelphia Democratic and Republican leaders announced they had reached an agreement on the five districts in that city.
Within short order:
—Legislative conferees informed Gov. Scranton that a basic agreement on realignment of all 27 seats had been reached.
The 25th District, which includes Beaver, Lawrence and Butler counties, with a combined population of 434,552, would remain unchanged under the reapportionment plan under consideration by the Pennsylvania Senate at Harrisburg.

and then he promptly called the general assembly into session at 10 p. m. to give the plan immediate consideration.
—A bill was introduced with bipartisan sponsorship in the Senate and minutes later was reported out of committee.
The measure contained a week extension of the March 8 filing deadline for congressional candidates.
Plans are for the Senate to advance the measure one step at a session at 6 p. m. and then to pass it over to the House shortly after midnight.
Under the tentative timetable laid down by the Senate leadership, the House would consider the measure Friday and Saturday and pass it finally Monday.
"The House leaders have been advised of this and they join with us in what we are saying," said Senate Majority Leader Stanley G. Stroup after the agreement was announced.
Any amendment could upset that timetable and there were unconfirmed reports circulating in the Senate that some changes were being considered by some House members.
The bill as proposed does not

High Court's Seen Split On Police Probes

Tribunal Completes Re-Examination Of Escobedo Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has completed a searching re-examination of its historic Escobedo decision apparently deeply divided on how it should be applied to police investigations across the land.
In one sense at least, Justice Potter Stewart suggested Wednesday as three days of hearings on five Escobedo-type cases drew to a close, the court may be chasing a "will o' the wisp."
The Escobedo ruling in 1964 for the first time extended to a suspect in a police station the right to consult his lawyer — and set off a national debate on police practices. They hang in the balance until the justices hammer out their differences if they can and, perhaps by June, announce their decisions.
Again and again, as lawyers pressed their cases before the court during the exhaustive review, they were asked by the justices to give their own readings of the Escobedo ruling. The answers were diverse.
To California Deputy Atty. Gen. Gordon Ringer, the Escobedo decision does not mean the state is obliged to provide a lawyer to a police suspect before taking his confession.
"It's a question of the facts in each individual case," Ringer said.
But to William A. Norris, a Los Angeles attorney appointed by the high court to represent a man who had been convicted of murder on the basis of a purse-snatching confession, it means suspects not only have the right to a lawyer's assistance during police interrogation, but that the right is not "contingent upon request."
What about the justices themselves?
Although Chief Justice Earl Warren cautioned one lawyer against "trying to read our minds," the only clues at this point are in the justices' bench remarks and questions.

Court To Pick Counsel For 2 In Entry Case

Declaring they are indigent and unable to employ counsel, a Midland man and an Industry Borough resident today requested Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff to appoint attorneys to represent them on charges of attempting to burglarize a safe early Monday morning in the Veterans of Foreign Wars home.
Indicating he will comply, the judge granted continuances until Tuesday morning at 9 in preliminary hearings for Nick Tepovich, 38, of 489 Virginia Ave., Midland, and Louis F. Ancrile, 23, of 1313 Midland-Beaver Rd., Industry Borough.
Both were returned to jail in default of $2,500 appearance bonds.
Police said the two were taken into custody about 6 a. m. (Turn to COUNSEL, Page 5)

Selection Made In 5-1 Vote At Lisbon

Executive-type aircraft may be flying in and out of a new Columbiana County airport near Glenmoor by 1967 if plans launched by the County Airport Authority develop as planned.
And a new light industry may be obtained on a tract scheduled to be purchased by the Community Improvement Corp. adjacent to the aviation facility.
The airport authority Wednesday night selected the Swaney Airport as the site for the new county field and approved a move to obtain state and federal funds for construction in a meeting at Lisbon.
A $100,000 state allotment is available for the airport and federal funds will be made available on a 50-50 matching basis.
Cost of the Madison Township facility, which will have a 4,000-foot runway, 75 feet wide, was set at about $233,000, but with the state and federal funds it may cost the county little or nothing.
The authority selected Swaney in a 5-to-1 vote with a sixth member abstaining from marking a selection in the secret ballot for the six sites under consideration.

Secret Ballot Conducted
Voting were Vaughn McMorrow of Wellsville, Charles Chesney of Columbiana, County Commissioner James Boyd of St. Clair Township, Paul Dailey of Apples Corners, County Prosecutor J. Warren Bettis, County Engineer John Ursu of Salem and Vincent Laneve of East Liverpool, president.

The Orchard Hill tract near Leetonia received one vote.
Authority members Victor Zerbs of Salem and Robert Shaffer of East Palestine were absent.

The facts that the Swaney tract has been offered without cost by Mike Turk of East Liverpool and that the Federal Aviation Administration has the East Liverpool area listed for an airport on the National Airport Plan proved decisive points in the selection of the site.

Atty. Lawrence Stacey of Columbiana reported the Orchard Hill property would cost some $50,000.

Robert Larocca, FAA airport engineer, and Frank Galowia, FAA program officer, both from Cleveland, briefed the Authority on an FAA survey of the six county sites and the procedures for obtaining federal airport fund aid.

Federal Aspect Explained
Larocca said all of the sites could be adapted to FAA standards, but at present an East Liverpool area site would be the only one acceptable to receive federal funds because it is part of the national airport development program.
He pointed out the FAA is not interested in airports which serve particular counties — the FAA evaluation for airport needs is based on population, air traffic, highway nets, economic development and other factors.

He said, "To place an airport in the center of the county just to please both the north and south areas would make it ineffective. An airport should be located where it can do the most good for the most people."
Larocca said, "We recognized the need for an air facility in East Liverpool and also in the northern part of the county."
"But our report indicates there cannot be an airport which will serve both the East Liverpool area and the whole county, and the FAA is interested."

Burial At Arlington Due For 2 Astronauts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bodies of astronauts Elliot M. See Jr. and Charles A. Bassett II have been brought here for burial Friday amid the nation's honored dead at Arlington National Cemetery.
See, 38, a civilian, and Bassett, 34, an Air Force major, were killed Monday when their T38 jet fighter-trainer crashed into a building at the McDonnell Aircraft Corp. plant at St. Louis, Mo. They had been scheduled to fly the Gemini 9 space mission next May.
Memorial services were held Wednesday in Houston, Tex.

CIC Obtains More Land In Airport Area

15 Acres Available For New Facility Or Development Need

Purchase of a 15-acre tract adjacent to the Swaney Airport near Glenmoor for use by the airport and for commercial development has been announced by the Community Improvement Corp.

George A. Shaw, president of the CIC, said the executive board has approved purchase of the site along Air Beacon Rd. at a cost of some $1,900.

The present owners include Mrs. Marguerite Todd of East Liverpool and Mrs. Kathleen Todd of Lisbon.
Arrangements for the purchase were conducted by Vincent Laneve, chairman of the Columbiana County Airport Authority, who said the property was made available by the owners "at a price especially advantageous to the county airport program."

Shaw said whatever land is needed from the tract for airport usage will be donated. The remainder will be promoted by the CIC for light industry, offices or other purposes which would benefit the economic development of the area.

Laneve said four or five acres probably would be used for the airport.
The CIC recently authorized $3,000 for purchase of the Sylvester Mays property adjacent to the Swaney grounds for necessary airport land. Some 30 acres were made available by the Mays at $100 an acre, also a considerable price, Laneve pointed out.
The Swaney tract — a total of 86 acres — has been contributed to the new airport by Mike Turk.

Tentative plans call for razing of the two present hangers at the site, construction of an administration building along the center area of the proposed runway and erection of hangars nearby.

Midland Man Named Again For Housing

Beaver County commissioners announced today that they have reappointed John F. Phillips of 1050 Ohio Ave., Midland, to a five-year term on the Beaver County Housing Authority.
This will be Phillips' fourth term.

Biggest Non-Secret In Years

Diplomatic Angle Cited
In Spain Bomb Incident

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials said today diplomatic courtesy kept the United States silent on the biggest nonsecret in years — the loss of a hydrogen bomb over Spain.

"We couldn't say anything officially until Spain made a move," one authority said.

Spain made a move Tuesday, announcing that 2,000 persons had been exposed to a slight danger of radiation after a U.S. B52 bomber and KC135 tanker crashed after colliding in flight Jan. 17 near Palomares, Spain.

The United States followed up Wednesday with the first official acknowledgement four thermonuclear weapons were aboard the B52 when it crashed near the Mediterranean coast.

A Defense Department spokesman described the weapons as thermonuclear and a reporter asked if that meant hydrogen bombs. The answer was "yes."

The conventional explosives surrounding the critical core of the hydrogen devices blew apart two of the bombs upon impact with the earth, a Defense Department spokesman said. There was no nuclear chain reaction.

A third bomb was found apparently virtually intact.

The fourth remains missing — the object of an intensive search by 20 U.S. Navy ships, thousands of U.S. and Spanish military and civilian personnel and harried officials at the Pentagon and State Department.

One of the guesses is that the bomb is sunk in the muck of the Mediterranean, perhaps 1,000 feet deep. Radioactivity-gauging devices can penetrate only a few inches of the mud.

While there was no thermonuclear blast, the megatonnage was felt in international circles.

The Spanish minister of information demanded an end to flights over Spanish territory by U.S. planes carrying nuclear weapons.

The Soviet Union charged that the United States had caused widespread radioactive contamination and violated the nuclear test ban treaty.

The United States sat tight-tipped.

The reason for U.S. silence, a high official said, was to comply with Spain's desire for no public comment on the matter.

"With Spain perhaps threatening us to remove our air bases, we couldn't very well go against her wishes," this official said. "The fact of the matter is, we've had a statement ready to be released by the U.S. Embassy in Spain for the last two weeks."

One version of the situation as explained by some officials is that military security was the overriding factor in the first few days after the crash. The United States did not want top secret materials to fall into the foreign hands.

At this time, too, officials felt the missing fourth bomb would be found shortly and a public statement could be made.

As the search developed, the story goes, United States officials began to see a need to make a clean breast of things in view of widespread press reports that nuclear armament was involved.

Spain, nevertheless, stood fast for no public statement.

The refusal is attributed to several factors: Spain has an authoritarian government. Spain did not want to alarm the somewhat backward folk of village areas where the crash occurred. Spain did not want the United States to announce something that involved Spanish territory.

U.S. officials acquiesced.

Man And Woman
Killed In Crash
Of Private Plane

WILLIAMSTOWN, Ky. (AP) — Investigators were puzzled today by events leading up to the crash of a private airplane into a Grant County lake Wednesday which took two lives.

Killed were Claire A. Wiseman, 45, Columbus, Ohio, and Margaret G. Hale, 32, Lexington, Ky.

State police said the Beechcraft Bonanza they were in struck a power line and pitched into the lake approximately 10 miles south of Williamstown in northern Kentucky.

Coroner Dr. A. P. Rich said the plane had just left a Lexington airport and apparently was headed north, but turned back toward Lexington. He said the reason for the plane's low altitude as it flew over the lake was not known.

2,000 Receive Treatment After
Meningitis Death

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Following a worker's death Wednesday from spinal meningitis, about 2,000 persons working on the construction of the new Chevrolet-Fisher Body assembly plant in Lordstown were given preventive treatment.

Trumbull County Health Commissioner T. S. Minahan said the victim, Homer A. Rose, 63, a plumber from Girard, died of the most contagious form of the disease.

Minahan said there is no reason at this time to quarantine the plant or the workers since it was an isolated case.

Some employees of North Side Hospital in Youngstown where Rose died also were given treatment.

This was the first infectious meningitis case reported in the area since 1954.

Texas Launches 15-Day
Free Voter-Signup Drive

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Sparked by a federal court order outlawing the state poll tax, Texas begins a 15-day free voter-registration drive today amid a state-federal controversy.

Some estimates point toward a gain of perhaps 500,000 new voters before the emergency registration period ends May 17.

FBI agents — on orders of U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach and much to the discomfort of state officials — will be watching registrars closely.

"Completely unjustified and unwarranted," said Gov. John Connally, who called the recent special legislative session that wrote a free voter annual registration bill to replace Texas' 64-year-old $1.75 poll tax voting requirement.

"Requesting the FBI to monitor the registration of voters in Texas does a great disservice to the people of Texas. A gratuitous insult to the public officials of the state," Connally said.

Said State Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, a Democratic candidate for U.S. senator, "If you have any complaint against Texas, state it in court — don't threaten with the FBI."

Carr said Katzenbach's office also asked for a direct accounting of the registration drive.

"I know of no court order which requires me to report to you for anything Texas does," Carr told Katzenbach in a letter.

In Washington, Katzenbach expressed astonishment at Carr's outburst.

"On the basis of both the facts and our telephone conversation, I am astonished that he would express such views," the attorney general said.

When he talked to Carr Wednesday morning, Katzenbach said, "I made it perfectly clear to him that the FBI is not maintaining surveillance over the Texas government, and he has in no sense been threatened."

"As I explained to him, the FBI has been assigned merely to gather facts regarding actual registration in sample counties."

Most Texans considered the 1966 election year safe when the Jan. 31 deadline for payment of poll taxes and the Feb. 7 deadline for candidate filing passed without a three-judge federal court acting on the Justice Department's suit to outlaw poll tax voting requirements.

Then on Feb. 9, U.S. Circuit Judge Homer Thornberry, a close friend and political associate of President Johnson, handed down the three-judge court's opinion saying the poll tax actually was a tax on the right to vote. State officials asked a stay of the Austin court order and Connally called the Legislature into special session to deal with the political confusion.

The state appealed the poll tax decision to the U.S. Supreme Court Wednesday.

A Logical, Sensible Selection

The Columbiana County Airport Authority has acted in a logical and sensible manner in selecting the Swaney Airport area as the site for a new county air facility.

As an official of the Federal Aviation Administration pointed out, an airport located at a centralized site would benefit neither northern nor southern parts of the county because it would not be feasible or efficient in terms of aviation service to populated, industrialized areas.

Since Swaney is already a part of the FAA's National Airport Plan and since Mike Turk's generous offer of land at Swaney without cost makes the airport financially attractive in preference to the other sites considered, the Authority's choice was a wise one.

The Authority and its chairman, Vincent Lavee, have conducted a painstaking, capable and careful study and selection of a county site in a rather controversial atmosphere, with a north-south battle raging at times over where the airport should be.

The new facility unquestionably will serve well the center and southern parts of the county and at the same time will prove readily accessible to the northern areas.

An additional benefit to the entire county should be the acquisition of the tract adjacent to the airport by the Community Improvement Corp. for industrial development.

The Review salutes the Authority for bending to its new tasks in an intelligent and impartial manner; Mr. Turk, the Mays and Todds for sacrificing personal gain by donating or selling at below market value land for the airport and industrial tract, and the CIC, the Jaycees and others for putting another phase of community development into action.

Not only East Liverpool, Wellsville, Lisbon and areas in Hancock and Beaver Counties will be aided by the new airport. The whole county will profit by having such a facility to serve air transportation, assist existing businesses and industries and to help attract new enterprises to the district.

We have now begun to earn our "wings." It is up to us all to work hard in a true spirit of progress and cooperation to insure we use them properly once obtained.

Will It Happen Again?

Does lopsided approval of five billion dollars' worth of extra defense spending for an undeclared war in Viet Nam mean Congress is backing President Johnson to the hilt as commander-in-chief of the armed services?

Yes.
Does it mean Congress is lopsidedly in favor of a policy that sucked the United States into a tangled military involvement in Southeast Asia?

No.
Congress had no choice about backing President Johnson to the hilt in Viet Nam. Right or wrong, the United States is committed and must support its troops.

Right or wrong, the United States must finish what it has started. Otherwise, it would go back on its word. No one would believe it the next time it made a promise.

WHAT HAS the argument in Congress and among the American people been about, then, if the United States is solidly behind the Johnson administration's policy in Viet Nam? Have dissident U. S. senators and all others questioning policy in Viet Nam been wasting their breath and time?

Perhaps they have.
But they have been wasting it for a worthy purpose.

They have been delving into the mechanics of an obsession that has become a keystone of U. S. foreign policy.

They have neither the time nor means to do a thorough job; emotions are running too high. Even to raise doubts about things that have happened under the spell of the obsession can bring down accusations of disloyalty.

But one way or another, sooner or later, the fact had to be faced that the United States bumbled into a course of action in Viet Nam that never had been rationalized and now is trying to find a way out.

FIRST, it tried to save French colonialism in Indo-China at a cost of billions. Then it tried to stop a civil war in Viet Nam. Now it is promising to rehabilitate both South Viet Nam and North Viet Nam if they will negotiate a settlement of their military differences and agree to hold a free election.

Why is the United States involved in this complicated outbreak of animosity among backward people on the other side of the world?

Why have American lives and wealth been committed on a scale out of all proportion to the importance of Viet Nam, itself?

Because the United States has an official obsession about purging the world of Communism. It is pursuing the policy of the late John Foster and whenever it appears, then destroy it.

This is what dissident senators were talking about in their hearings. But this is not what Congress voted on, which was whether to back President Johnson in a military involvement.

There could be no question about that.

THE QUESTION then and now is whether the door is going to be left open for the government to wander into another involvement as casually as President Kennedy wandered into this one when he began to escalate the U. S. anti-Communist effort in Viet Nam in 1961.

No wonder his brother Robert now is trying to find a way to disentangle the United States. If John F. Kennedy had given the decision the attention it deserved in 1961, the United States never would have become entangled in the first place.

Those White Patrol Cars

The Ohio Highway Patrol is cruising in the right direction with its policy of buying white patrol cars. Special squads will use them.

These squads will move into areas where local traffic problems are acute and will be so noticeable they will alert all motorists that something is afoot.

But when they move out, won't their absence be just as noticeable?

Herewith a tip to the Ohio Highway Patrol and all traffic personnel — something to think about while not thinking about more immediate problems.

The sight of a flasher on top of a police car commands automatic caution on the part of motorists. Flashers mean business. They signify that something either needs or is receiving urgent attention.

Life On Earth?

The controversy over the possibility of life on Mars has burgeoned into a serious search for life on earth. That quest received its impetus from the 21 fuzzy pictures broadcast back there from Mars by Mariner 4 last July.

At that time, the apparently barren nature of the planet's red and green surface plus the extremely low atmospheric pressure, both revealed by Mariner 4, led to the speculation that not even a primitive plant could survive that hostile environment.

Now three scientists have asked themselves the question: Could Mariner 4 pictures have told earthlings that there was intelligent life on that distant planet to say nothing of primitive life? Suppose Mariner had been sent here by Martians, could they decide from such photographs that New York City existed?

Actually the experiment has been performed already — by earthlings using the Tiro and Nimbus meteorological satellites which took pictures of the earth from distances of 260 to 580 miles. Mariner 4 took its pictures from a distance no closer than 6,188 miles.

THE THREE SCIENTISTS used the weather eye satellites' pictures to see if they could detect features on the earth which gave sign of intelligent life. They searched through several thousand pictures and found only two streaks that could be ascribed to intelligent beings: a recently completed interstate highway and a jet aircraft condensation trail.

The scientists who did the work were Dr. Carl Sagan and Dr. Steven D. Kilstrom, both of Harvard, and Dr. Robert R. Drummond, of the Goddard Space Flight Center, at Greenbelt, Md.

The scientists started with two ideas. The first was that man produces straight lines as part of this civilization while nature only occasionally does so. Those straight lines include roads, railways, bridges, breakwaters, dikes, great walls, jet condensation trails and wakes of ships.

The second idea was that the weather eye

The point is that anything easily identified as a police vehicle brings automatic caution on the part of all motorists who see it. They may be persistent scofflaws. They may be driving with suspended licenses because law enforcement fails to impound cars along with the legal right to use them. They may be chronic highway cowboys riding tall in the saddle. But give them a glimpse of a police car on the horizon and they will simmer down, because they don't want to get nailed.

The moral: If it's a good idea to paint some police cars white, it would be a better idea to paint 'em all white and give the law the maximum visibility it should have. Traffic enforcement shouldn't be a branch of the Secret Service.

By Earl Ubell

pictures were able at various times to see things as small as a tenth of a mile long, i.e., about two city blocks. Most of the time the satellites pick up objects half a mile long. Scientists call that length the resolution of photography. Mariner 4 had a resolution of several miles.

They searched picture after picture. One showed the entire eastern seaboard of the United States from Cape Cod to Chesapeake. As the scientists reported in "Icarus," a journal of planetary science, they could find no trace of New York City. All the railroads and super highways were completely invisible and they found no signs of bridges anywhere.

IN OTHER PICTURES, they hunted for London, Paris, Los Angeles, Chicago, Tokyo, Calcutta and Cairo, all to no avail. The Key West Causeway, a long road set in water, was nowhere to be seen.

But they did detect Interstate Highway 40 out of Memphis, although the city itself appears as a blotch. They picked it up because the road surface, comparatively new, reflected a great deal of light and it was set in newly cut swath in a forest region.

However, as if to offset that triumph, Nimbus 1 picked up an extremely long straight line off the northern coast of Morocco. From examination of maps, they decided it was a natural peninsula. Without a map to help them, they might not have been able to decide. And the jet trail? Maybe.

The scientists conclude that to find intelligent life on earth, several thousand pictures with a resolution of a couple of city blocks would be needed. Mariner 4's score of pictures couldn't find a thing here or on Mars, which, the chances are, doesn't harbor intelligent beings. If there were only simple biological organisms on Mars, the difficulty of establishing existence with photography alone becomes almost insurmountable.

Still The Best Way To Bargain!

Tough Wage Stand Takes Shape

By Victor Riesel

They don't look tough. They aren't tough. They don't sound tough — nor do they sound off.

They're the most cloistered of "crowds" — the Council of Economic Advisers to the President. They're from the sedate campuses and foundations — yet for weeks now they've quietly been fighting in their own fashion the toughest of union leaders.

While everybody has been talking about the $20 to $30-a-week cash increases being won by such construction unions as the Operating Engineers and the Plumbers, the small band of men, known as the Council, tucked away in the White House's Executive Office Building, has been doing something about it.

The council knows the federal government spends about $20 billion yearly on every type of construction. So the council is going to the federal agencies which allocate the billions and is saying, in effect, let's give those union officials who won't even come in to see us a dose of their own medicine.

THUS THE AIDES of council chairman, 50-year-old university economist Gardner Ackley, have been culling construction plans of NASA, the Army Corps of Engineers, the Bureau of Public Roads, and the Department of Housing and Urban Development, etc., to learn in advance where the federal money might be going.

The tactic then will be to head it off. Slow it up. Shift the construction elsewhere. Get more for more people at reasonable wage rates. At least, give the government and contractors spending the government's money a chance to argue a bit.

Now in the news is northern New Jersey, considered by some to be the highest construction cost area in the land. It is there that the Operating Engineers Local 825 has won rates running to $7.75 an hour, and that does not include fringes.

The council invited the local's chief, Peter Weber, who has had his difficulties with other branches of the government such as the Justice Department, to come on in and discuss matters. He did not even give the council a no, thanks.

He just did not come in. The contract is what he wants. The contract is what he'll get. In that local, they're accustomed to being tough.

NOW THE COUNCIL is looking into the millions of dollars worth of contracts due to be let by the government in that area during April and May. These may be diverted to more needy areas.

The council reasoning is simple: If Mr. Weber can command so high a price for his followers' labor, then manpower must be scarce in that area. If scarce, why strain the neighborhood?

There are sectors where union men need jobs and are willing to work at rates which do not actually destroy the 3.2 per cent guideline for increases. Strain the guideline, yes. Destroy it with a 6 per cent a year increase, now.

This could be done everywhere. "Take NASA's multi-million dollar electronic center now planned for Boston," said one chap familiar with the Advisers' Council. "If labor is so tight there that wages must skyrocket to attract manpower and thus thrust the country into the upper strata of inflation, the NASA people can build elsewhere. They could go near Cape Kennedy, or inland in Iowa or Nebraska."

THERE ARE TIGHT situations elsewhere which have not yet hit the headlines — the Gulf Coast, for example. There good construction labor is scarce. If the unions press hard for heavy increases running from 50 cents to more than a dollar-an-hour straight time, then new construction will be shifted "up-river" in other states.

This could be done in the case of transportation and housing, too. Thus if the policy affects northern Jersey by depriving it of new residential buildings, sewers and roads, the entire community will be punished, of course. So will the contractors. But, say the government people, folks elsewhere will get more for fewer federal dollars.

There are many weapons in the council's arsenal. Most effective, of course, is putting the inflexible labor leaders in a position of arguing policy with NASA, or the Army Corps of Engineers or Bureau of Public Roads.

They then would have to argue that a computer center, or a tunnel, or a housing project is worth less to the nation's economy or strength in one part of the land than in their own.

But they wanted a battle. They're getting it.

Voting Trends

By David Lawrence

They Follow Similar Pattern In War

On which side of the Viet Nam controversy is there more political advantage to a candidate for Congress? This is the question that is perplexing certain members but doesn't seem to be bothering the critics of administration policy, especially the senators who are not up for election this autumn.

The reasons for the confusion are not novel. There has never been a war that is popular. The American people, on the other hand, have never failed to support the policy of the administration in power during the time that the war is being fought. The unfavorable repercussions usually occur after the fighting is over.

This correspondent has observed the political trends growing out of two world wars, the Korean War and the revolutions in Latin America that have involved the armed forces of the United States. The public reaction is very much the same.

Thus, for instance, the American people were against entry into the first World War, and the policy of the government in trying to preserve neutrality was readily affirmed. President Wilson won re-election in November 1916 as the Democratic party used the slogan, "He kept us out of war." But when this was misconstrued by the Kaiser's government and American passenger ships were sunk with the loss of many lives, Congress overwhelmingly supported the President's decision in April 1917 to declare a state of war.

AS WORLD WAR I was coming to an end, there was widespread dissatisfaction. The Republicans won both houses in the congressional elections held six days before the armistice, the signing of which on Nov. 11, 1918, had been foreshadowed for several weeks.

The economic situation that faced the two million troops on their return was far from favorable. As war-time controls were lifted, inflation ensued and prices skyrocketed. These factors caused the Democratic administration to be repudiated in the 1920 election by the biggest margin which had been obtained in the electoral college in a two-party contest since the early days of the republic.

All through the 1920s, the anti-war sentiment became pronounced. When war clouds began to appear in the 1930s, there was an almost unanimous feeling that the United States should stay out of European conflicts.

In fact, Franklin D. Roosevelt, who ran for a third term, won the election of 1940 and became the first president in history to win a third term because he reiterated during the campaign his firm intention to keep out of the war. Almost three years after the Japanese had forced America into the second World War, Mr. Roosevelt won a fourth term in 1944 largely because the election was held in the midst of the war and the people didn't want "to change horses in midstream."

WHEN WORLD WAR II was over, however, economic conditions again brought hardships. The Republicans won Congress in the 1946 election and gave President Truman and the Democratic party a close race in the 1948 presidential election.

During Mr. Truman's subsequent administration, the war in Korea broke out. It was not any more popular than the war in Viet Nam is today. At that time, the United States was not alone but was joined with other countries in the United Nations. After two years of war, the pressure on the Truman administration for peace gradually became stronger and public sentiment urged compromise. Mr. Truman had started negotiations for a cease-fire and had made concessions which indicated an agreement.

Then there was a long pause, and the public became impatient for a settlement. This was one of the reasons why Gen. Eisenhower was elected in 1952, though there were other factors in the election.

THE RECORD of political experience with war issues in the past would seem to indicate that, if the Johnson administration were up for election this year, it would be supported overwhelmingly at the polls but if the Viet Nam War is settled by 1967, the aftereffects of the war may later be felt intensively on the economic side and could impair the Democratic party's opportunity for victory in the presidential election of 1968.

Meanwhile, as long as economic conditions are stable, the chances are that the Democratic party will retain a majority in Congress in this year's election, though it may lose some seats.

The lesson to be learned from past history is that, while the people do not like war, they also do not favor a dishonorable course or "peace at any price," and they will stick by the party in power at least during the war period.

ed primarily in a facility for East Liverpool."

Discusses Other Sites

In his survey of the Orchard Hill site — "made in greater degree because of the apparent interest shown in it"—it appeared, according to FAA criteria, to be too far north. He also mentioned a nearby strip mine which might prove a problem in the future if the owner wanted an access or moved in heavy equipment.

However, he said, the prime objection to the site was the nearby school. "Fences would have to be erected to keep children away, and there would be a noise factor incompatible with instruction."

As for the Swaney site, Larocca said it is listed on the FAA national airport program, would require about the same amount of grading—50,000 cubic yards or more—as Orchard Hill, or an expense of about $50,000 for moving earth at 50 cents a cubic yard.

He said some trees would have to be topped on the approaches from the southwest, but said some power lines did not pose a problem.

Approach Level Discussed

There was some discussion between Larocca and Ursu on the approach level, but it was agreed that a 20-to-1 ratio was acceptable by both state and federal regulations.

Larocca also said a warning lights would not be needed on the power poles or on Round Knob, which he said was about 7,000 feet out from the proposed landing strip. Elevation of Swaney is 1,140 feet, while Round Knob is almost 300 feet higher.

He said the proximity of Route 11 is also a benefit in providing easy highway access from the eastern and central parts of the county.

The FAA engineer said the Holloway-Smith tract was also a very good site — level, free from power lines or obstacles or the approaches with plenty of room for development.

Stacey commented at this point on the grading costs for Swaney and Orchard Hill which he said, according to a survey by Ursu, were "shocking." Larocca said his estimates of the grading were probably conservative.

Of the Holloway-Smith site, Larocca said it was inappropriate because it would not serve East Liverpool under FAA standards. He spoke of the possibility of a Mahoning County airport for serving northern Columbiana County.

"My conclusion concerning the six sites is that you cannot have one airport to serve both East Liverpool and all of the county—you need two airports."

Financial Aspect Reviewed

Stacey pressed the FAA man about any survey concerning whether any county airport would be self-sustaining financially, and Larocca said federal funds are awarded on the expectation a facility will be supported by the area.

Stacey said there is every indication that the northern part of Columbiana and the southern part of Mahoning have sufficient airplanes and industrial interest to best support an airport.

Larocca said there is also similar potential in northern West Virginia and western Pennsylvania for an East Liverpool area facility.

Ernest Webb, Ohio Department of Aviation aide, was asked if the state survey was similar to the FAA in recommendations. He said it was similar—"almost word for word."

About 40 attended the session which began in the commissioners' office at the Courthouse at 8:15.

Ursu Presents Estimates

After a 10-minute intermission at 10 p. m., Ursu presented his estimates of construction costs for the Swaney and Orchard Hill tracts.

He said the grading standards he set were more rigid than the state's 2 per cent and the FAA's 4 per cent. His estimates were based on .5 per cent grading, adding the costs would be cheaper if 1 or 2 per cent grading was undertaken.

Ursu estimated construction at Swaney would amount to $233,500 and at Orchard Hill $197,500. It was pointed out the land at Orchard Hill would cost some $50,000, while the land at Swaney would be donated.

The Swaney construction costs included $70,000 for grading 140,000 cubic yards; $1,150 for one culvert; $3,500 for another; $15,000 for underdrains along the runway; $66,000 for a soil cement base for the runway; $14,000 for seeding; $7,000 for lighting; $5,000 for clearing trees; $30,000 for an access road, and $15,000 for engineering fees.

The Orchard Hill construction would include $77,500 for grading 155,000 cubic yards; $4,050 for a culvert; $20,050 for underdrains; $2,000 for water; $66,600 for soil cement base; $3,500 for lighting; nothing for clearing trees or for an access road, and $13,000 for engineering fees.

Fund Action Explained

With the state's $100,000 use for matching funds along with federal funds matching half the appraised value of Turk's donated land, Laneve said the actual construction costs for Swaney would be little or nothing. Both FAA aides agreed, although Galownia warned there is a possibility federal funds would not be immediately available.

He said once the Authority has filed for FAA approval of the Swaney site, and received it, then has filed for federal funds, the application would be adjudged on a priority point system for the funds available.

Galownia also suggested the Authority seek a federal matching grant for a master plan survey for an airport which he said would be required for fund approval any way.

There was a discussion on whether a general survey should be done by an airport planning consultant for all the airport sites.

Laneve had announced ballots were prepared for voting on the six sites and it was pointed out since FAA funds were needed to build any airport because of the high costs, and that the FAA would approve only Swaney, there was only one logical solution.

Ursu asked Larocca, "You want only an airport in East Liverpool? You don't want a Columbiana County Airport?"

Don Eckert, chairman of the East Liverpool Planning Commission, declared, "East Liverpool is in Columbiana County," and another member of the audience stated the Swaney site is not "in" East Liverpool.

Finally Bettis made a motion the ballot be taken and the votes were cast about 10:50, with James Hucka, Review and Salem News correspondent for Lisbon, reading the selections.

McMorrow then moved and Dailey seconded a proposal to formally authorize the Swaney site as the county airport location and to certify an application to the state and seek FAA approval for the site in preparation for filing for federal funds.

A group of recommendations from the airport site committee of the Regional Planning Commission were read by Laneve.

They included proposals that two airport sites be selected—for both north and south; that two additional members be named on the Authority to represent the central and western parts of the county, and that studies be made on financing the airport operation.

It was pointed out the recommendations had not been submitted to the Planning Commission itself for approval, so no action was taken.

The next meeting of the Authority was set for March 16 after a decision to meet more frequently because of the amount of business to be undertaken.

Man To Face Hearing

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Arthur Dodge was in the Hancock County Jail today awaiting a March 15 preliminary hearing on a first-degree murder charge.

Dodge, 22, of nearby North Baltimore, is charged in the Tuesday shooting here that killed his mother-in-law and critically wounded his estranged wife. He entered a plea of innocent at his arraignment Wednesday.

Monday while in the office of the VFW home. Officers charged that the doors of the safe had been battered badly, but had not been opened.

Police were called by Sheridan Pollock, the post custodian, who said he heard a "thumping" noise inside when reporting for work. He went to a nearby home and telephoned police. Lt. W. E. McDaniel and Patrolmen Howard Frontz and Ronald Brookes entered the structure and took the two into custody.

Lt. McDaniel signed the affidavits alleging that the two "maliciously and forcibly broke and entered" the building "with intent to steal property of value."

Anacle and Tepovich, called to the bench separately by Judge Chertoff, both asserted they are without money to employ counsel. The judge also conferred with Chief A. J. Radeschi, who said his independent investigation bore out the men's statements.

The judge then ordered the continuances and told the men he will seek to have attorneys contact them within a few days. Judge Chertoff said he acted under an arrangement meant to guarantee that no person charged with a felony will be without counsel at a preliminary hearing. He said he will advise Judge Raymond S. Buzzard of Common Pleas Court at Lisbon, asking him to authorize appointment of counsel.

The arrangement provides that the Common Pleas judge will suggest the names of attorneys and Judge Chertoff will contact them and ask them to represent the defendants. Common Pleas Court has funds with which to pay the fees of counsel for the indigent, but Municipal Court has none.

Judge Chertoff said he also had investigated the background of the two men and was satisfied they had no funds with which to pay counsel fees.

Committees For July Fair Named By Chester Firemen

Committees for the annual fair sponsored by the Chester volunteer fire department were appointed during a meeting of the department Wednesday night at the station.

The fair will be held July 25-30 on 4th St. A contract has been signed with Heck's Amusements to provide rides.

George Allison was elected a six-year trustee of the death and emergency benefits fund.

Lorin R. Murray was enrolled as a probationary member and an application from Harry Hall to become a fireman was placed on the waiting list.

Firemen agreed to pay the expenses of two men to attend a fire school on pumping and hydraulics March 12-13 at West Virginia University.

The department will attend a fire school Saturday at the Oakland district station in the Swearingen Hill area near New Cumberland on forest and brush fires. The school is sponsored by the West Virginia Department of Conservation.

Firemen also decided to purchase two hand lanterns for the trucks. They also agreed to sponsor a crippled child in the "King and Queen for a Day" contest which will be held at Charleston.

Sixteen attended the meeting with Chief Alton Johnson in charge.

Prior to the meeting, Fireman George Cowey led a class on the use of oxygen equipment and resuscitators.

Fireman Paul Doughty will conduct a class on mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and cardiac massage prior to the regular meeting April 6.

Hancock Begins Easter Seal Sale

The sale of 1966 Easter Seals began Tuesday and will continue through April 10 in Hancock County. Mrs. David Hair and Mrs. Daniel Hayes, co-chairmen of the drive for the Hancock County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, reminded residents today.

"Those willing to serve as Easter Seal parade volunteers will be helping tens of thousands of crippled children overcome their handicaps and lead an active, normal life. And they will be helping disabled adults find the road back into the community," Mrs. Hair said.

She requested that prospective volunteers contact her or Mrs. Hayes.

BPW Event Expected To Attract 400

Nearly 400 area employed women are expected to attend the all-day "Show and Tell Of BPW" program March 13 at Atwood Lake Lodge in Carroll County.

Opening at 9 a.m. with a coffee hour, the event is being sponsored by the East Liverpool Business and Professional Women's Club in conjunction with 10 other BPW Clubs in the six-county area.

Miss Joan Witt, president of the local group, today pointed out again that "area women, employed either in business or the professions, who are interested in learning more about the BPW organization are welcome to attend — whether or not they are members — but luncheon reservations must be received by Sunday."

Mrs. Lois McHenry is local reservations chairman.

Pointing out that "this is the first area BPW event ever to be opened to non-members," Miss Witt expressed the hope that "many locally employed women will take advantage of the unusual opportunity to hear, meet and talk with the six Ohio BPW federation officials who will speak during the program."

Jury's At Scene Of Shooting And Hears Testimony

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An Allegheny County Criminal Court jury, in what is believed to be an unprecedented action, has visited the scene of a fatal shooting and heard testimony there.

The jury of six men and six women went Wednesday to a vacant lot in the city's East Liberty section where policeman Robert G. MacBeth, 36, is accused of shooting Louis Hardy as Hardy allegedly fled from a dice game last October.

Court aides said it was the first time in court history that testimony in a trial was taken at the scene.

The district attorney's office is prosecuting MacBeth on a murder charge. The defense contends the shooting was accidental.

Five of these will be single structures and there will be three sets of bridges carrying the four-lane route over the B. & O. Railroad, existing U. S. 250 near Brown's Bridge and Stillwater Creek. South Side's Scholar Fund Drive Slated

James Ashcroft and Mrs. Helen Stewart, trustees for the South Side District Dollars for Scholars Drive, today announced the chairmen who will be working for the Citizens Scholarship Foundation in their area.

The house-to-house canvass will begin Sunday afternoon, with general solicitation of businesses and groups to follow during the month.

Chairman for the door-to-door campaign will be Rita Pursfull of Hookstown R. D. 1.

Co-chairmen for organizations will be Mrs. Hazel Walker for Shippingport and Mrs. Virginia Rogers for South Side Elementary School.

They will be assisted by the trustees and other interested persons.

Ashcroft said that anyone wishing to help Dollars for Scholars in the South Side area should call either of the trustees or any of the chairmen.

Last year nearly $650 was raised for the area, with $170 of the total amount coming from the door-to-door drive. This money was granted, along with additional undesignated funds raised in the area - wide fund drives, to three students. The recipients were Therese Nola, Mary Rardin and Susan Lyons, all of Hookstown.

Mrs. Pursfull requested anyone not home Sunday afternoon to mail contributions either to her or to Box 458, East Liverpool, Ohio.

Residents will be able to recognize the solicitors by the white arm bands they will be wearing, with green lettering entitled "Dollars for Scholars Solicitor". It is expected that the door-to-door drive will be completed during Sunday afternoon, she said.

Some 40 million American girls and women make at least some of their own clothes and surveys reveal that every eighth dress worn today is a "do-it-yourself" creation.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Our mother passed away in her late 30s and left Dad with five children. He gave us love and affection and not once did I hear him complain.

Now all five of us are married and have families of our own. Three of us live in town and a brother and sister live in neighboring states.

Two years ago Dad was bedridden. We got together and decided to put him in a rest home where he could get medical care. We are all in moderate circumstances and agreed to share the expenses.

The brother and sister who live out of town have not sent their checks for more than a year—nor have they gone to see Dad in all that time. They send postcards from their trips but they never write a letter or call Dad, although they know he has a phone by his bed.

How should I feel about the two deadbeats? Should I call them and remind them that they have a Dad here? Or should I write them off as selfish, worthless and then give them the cold shoulder when they do show up—probably for Dad's funeral? — SMOLDERING.

Dear Smoldering: There's usually one in every family. Your family has two. By all means, call the miserable ingrates and write to them, too. Children who forget that they have parents should be reminded.

As for how you should behave when you see them, be civilized but don't fall on their necks and pretend affection you don't feel.

Ex Con's Story

Dear Ann: That "lovely lady" who was mad because her two sons were in the Army while the ex-cons were not accepted should get her facts straight before she opens her big mouth. I'm an ex-con and I served in World War II along with thousands of other ex-cons. Many were decorated for bravery. We volunteered. We were not drafted. And each case was reviewed. Ex-cons with records of murder, rape or treason were not accepted.

My commanding officer told me that the ex-cons who served under him were better soldiers than the average GIs because they were used to regimentation and discipline and they had a clear picture of what freedom meant. Most of all, they were grateful for the chance to prove they were decent people. —EX-CON WHO SERVED.

Dear Ex-Con: Many irate mothers have the idea that a criminal record is an automatic draft exemption. Not so. The induction committees review each case and decide which men are acceptable.

During World War II convicts, under certain conditions, were permitted to volunteer for active duty. Many ex-cons showed great heroism. Some lost their lives. After the war those convicts who served and were honorably discharged received full pardons from President Truman.

Audited Love

Dear Ann: I've been going steady with Axel for 11 months. For Valentine's Day he gave me a $6 pair of earrings. I gave him a scarf which I got on sale for $7.50.

For my birthday Axel gave me a picture of himself. He said the frame cost $7.50 and I know it must have cost him $10 to have the picture taken. For his birthday I gave him a pair of cuff links and a tie clip with his initials engraved on them. The price, $20. For Christmas I spent $25 on an alpaca sweater. He gave me a hand-painted scarf that cost $7.95.

It seems like I like Axel more than he likes me. Am I right? —LET DOWN.

Dear Down: Do you have an accountant or do you keep the books all by yourself?

It's apparent that you measure feelings in dollars and cents. This is a mighty poor system, Toots. Money talks but it doesn't always tell the truth.

Boa Wins Ribbon

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A pet show ribbon went to Al Cooner for the most unusual entry — a three-foot-long boa constrictor. The award for the best-educated pet went to a pony that could turn on a water fountain by itself. The pony belongs to Mike Sumner.

Cruiser Due For St. Clair

Delivery of a new police cruiser for St. Clair Township is expected in about a month, following awarding of a contract to Mike Turk, Inc.

Three bids were opened by the township trustees Monday—Turk, $2,010 for a Chevrolet; Central Service, $2,003 for a Plymouth, and Chuck Kennedy, $2,170 for a Chevrolet.

Delivery of the auto will mark the first time the township will operate a police cruiser. At present the three police constables are using their own cars.

The officers will use the cruiser when on duty in the future, according to the trustees.

Application was filed for operation of a base radio station for the police system.

Slag requests were received for Purinton Ave. and Florence St. and complaints were received about street surface conditions in Fredericktown and Huston Rd.

Bills totaling $1,060 were paid. An application for a police constable post was received from Bernard Dyke of Glenmoor.

1,350 Employees At GE Plant Vote To End Walkout

CINCINNATI (AP) — About 1,350 employees voted Wednesday night to end their one-day strike at the General Electric Co. plant in Evendale and return to work today.

The vote was approved by a substantial margin, a spokesman said, at a two-hour meeting of Local 912, International Association of Machinists.

The union pulled the surprise strike Wednesday morning, Arnold Tucker, business representative, said "because General Electric is failing to live up to their bargaining agreements."

"We have nearly 400 grievances and they have refused to arbitrate scores of them," Tucker added.

With some 13,000 employees, the GE plant, which makes jet engines, is the city's largest employer. Other unions, however, did not go on strike, but it was estimated that as many as 4,000 may have stayed away from their jobs.

The union had sanctioned the strike. The company charged that it had not been informed of any alleged grievances.

Other companies which have raised the price to dealers by half a cent a gallon include Shell Oil Co., Sun Oil Co., Mobil Oil Co., Texaco, Sinclair Oil Co. and Pure Oil Co.

Detectives said contents of the safe were the personal property of William McCartney of suburban Mt. Lebanon, an auditor with the bank.

The 100-pound safe was apparently stolen from a fifth-floor office in the Keystone Building last weekend, police said. The theft, however, was not reported until Wednesday.

Recognition Paid 'Electa' At Eastern Star Meeting

Highlighting the meeting of Mrs. Gertrude Brennan and Mrs. Richards.

Eleven past matrons of the chapter were presented. In a surprise ceremony, Mrs. Marguerite Wilson and her husband were honored for their 41st wedding anniversary, which was Sunday. The worthy matron presented them in the West, read a poem and gave them a planter. Decorations in the East were in keeping with the Electa station and included red roses brought by Mrs. Wilson.

During business conducted by Mrs. Richards, revisions recommended by the bylaws committee were approved. The chapter voted to donate $5 to the Heart Fund and the charter was draped in memory of Mrs. Estelle Elton.

Plans were completed for the style show next Wednesday at 8 o'clock in the temple. It will include fashions by the Modern Shop, hair styling by Lewis Weinberger & Hill Academy of Cosmetology, Inc., entertainment and refreshments. Tickets are available from any member or at the door. The chapter will serve the Masonic inspection dinner March 25.

A patriotic theme was used in the dining room, with a cherry tree and figure of George Washington as the centerpiece of the buffet table. Miniature logs and a hatchet were the favors. Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. Alice Weldon were the hostess committee.

Guests were from Crescent chapter 49 of Chester, including the worthy matron and worthy patron, Kathryn and Harold David. The refreshment committee for the March 28 meeting will be Robert and Kathleen Hays.

Tournay Serves Again In Mental Fund Campaign

C. G. Tournay, president of the Weirton Steel Division of the National Steel Corp., has been named honorary chairman of the 1966 fund drive of the Hancock - Brooke County Mental Health Society.

Tournay served as honorary chairman last year when the society exceeded its goal by almost 50 per cent. This year's drive, in May, will be co-sponsored by the Society and Weirton Lodge 1658 of B'nai B'rith. The general chairmen will be Victor A. Greco and Marvin H. Levendorf, with the goal $10,000.

The money raised will be used to maintain and expand the mental health service offered at Weirton General Hospital. At present the service is available two days a week and includes the part-time services of a psychiatrist, a psychologist, a psychiatric social worker and a secretary.

The service is under the supervision of a coordinating committee comprised of members of the Mental Health Society and the medical, dental and administrative staffs of the hospital.

Bethlehem's Price Cuts Go Into Effect

NEW YORK (AP)—Price reductions by the Bethlehem Steel Co. covering hot-rolled sheets, in coils only, went into effect today.

The reductions—ranging from $2 to $25 a ton—were announced Wednesday by Bethlehem. The reductions follow similar action Tuesday by U.S. Steel Corp., which changed a number of product prices.

Bethlehem Steel said it is studying other price changes made by U.S. Steel.

Today's price change amounts to a reclassification of plate to hot-rolled sheets in coils, a Bethlehem steel spokesman said. He said the coils are used for such purposes as auto door hinges, bumper brackets and wheel rims.

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD DOAN

The End Of A Saga

The saga of Robert Kintner and NBC officially has been closed out in an exceptionally revealing exchange of letters.

In 23 paragraphs of substantial length, the former National Broadcasting Co. president, who has been chairman in name only since Jan. 1, resigned his chairmanship and position as an NBC director, effective March 31.

Richard Doan

IN THREE paragraphs, his former superior and predecessor, Robert W. Sarnoff, now president of the parent Radio Corp. of America, accepted and wished him godspeed.

Kintner, by reliable accounts, is sitting out a settlement of his contract. He has not put in office hours at 30 Rockefeller Plaza since December, when the news of his parting of ways with NBC stunned the broadcasting industry.

He was a solid success as boss of the radio-TV complex. The reasons for his departure are shrouded in corporate secrecy.

In the resignation letter, Kintner indelibly spelled out the role he has played in bringing NBC to its present prosperity and prominence.

"I TAKE understandable pride in the accomplishments of NBC, particularly since I devoted most of my time seven days a week during the last nine years to the company," he concluded after detailing division-by-division achievements.

By implication he noted that it is taking two men to fill his shoes.

"I can only expect that Walter Scott and Julian Goodman, to whom many of my former duties have been assigned, will carry on efficiently and successfully," he observed.

Scott, now president, will become chairman and Goodman, executive vice president, will become president upon Kintner's official exit.

KINTNER also took the opportunity to suggest how NBC could improve its programming.

He advocated "greater experimentation in regular programming," conceding, however, that this is a "most difficult task" in view of costs and sponsors' needs of reaching big audiences.

He said he thought broadcast news and information had made "remarkable advances, but the field has only been scratched in what should be the greatest potential for public good for both networks and local stations."

Sarnoff expressed "a deep sense of regret at your decision to end your relationship with the company" and conceded Kintner had "worked hard and long to advance NBC's position."

A BIG BROOM is being wielded at ABC on prime-time programming. Out of 33 current weekly series, probably 22 will be swept into oblivion by next September when the 1966-67 attractions are introduced.

They will be replaced by 18 new entertainments — fewer half hours and more hours than at present—ranging from comedy (6) to science fiction (2), Westerns (3), war adventure (2), police dramas (2) and variety and mystery drama (1 each).

That is, if a new "tentative firm" schedule drafted by the network's brass holds. It is subject to change.

BUT THE PROSPECTS are these:

Milton Berle will make a comeback attempt, but Arthur Godfrey won't. Apparently negotiations with Godfrey didn't work out.

"Batman" will be the only surviving "second season" entry. New weekly starring roles are in the offing for Phyllis Diller, Marlo Thomas, Robert Lansing, Dale Robertson, Howard Duff, Jeanne Crain, Ben Alexander, Paul Lynde and Bert Reynolds, among others.

Bypassed, besides Godfrey, are proposed shows starring Jack Carter, Cliff Arquette, Jack Hawkins and Jeremy Slate. There won't be any immediate attempt to capitalize on the "Batman" success with, say, a "Green Hornet" series. The end is in sight for such series as "McHale's Navy," "Shenandoah," "Addams Family," "12 O'Clock High" and "Jesse James," as well as for "Farmer's Daughter," "Ben Casey," "Ozzie," "Patty Duke," "Gidget," "Long Hot Summer," "The Flintstones," "Jiminy Dean," "Tamm y," "Donna Reed," "Honey West," "Henry Phylfe," "The Baron," "Blue Light" and "Scope."

Three More Ohio Men Killed In Viet Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Ohio men are on the latest killed-in-action list from Viet Nam, the Pentagon reports.

They were all Army men: Sgt. Paul J. Stochaj, husband of Mrs. Sylvia E. Stochaj, Lynchburg, Highland County; Pfc. Charles E. Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Brooks, Cincinnati, and Pfc. Ronald C. Cavinee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Cavinee, Rt. 2 Crooksville, Perry County.

Gets First Look At Program

Auto Industry Approves LBJ Traffic Safety Plan

By CHARLES C. CAIN
AP Business News Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Auto industry leaders breathed a sigh of relief today after getting their first look at President Johnson's long-awaited traffic safety program.

"This is a reasonable proposal and we can live with it," said one industry source. He, along with others in the industry who discussed the program, declined use of his name.

The President's 17-page proposal sent to Congress Wednesday called for a $700-million, six-year program to arrest what he called "carnage on the highways."

Top brass from all four major U.S. automakers attended a Washington briefing session held by John T. Conner, secretary of commerce, Wednesday in advance of public announcement of the Johnson message.

Among them were James Roche, president of General Motors; Lynn A. Townsend, president of Chrysler; Richard E. Cross, chairman of American Motors and John A. Bugas, vice president of Ford Motor Co.

The auto industry had known for several months that President Johnson, concerned over the nation's 49,000 traffic fatalities last year, was going to add his voice to the cause of auto safety.

Some industry leaders had expressed fears federal intervention in the safety program would result in government controls of the auto business.

GM President Roche, for example, said recently: "Regulation would have a severe and adverse effect on our business. It would substitute rigidity for flexibility, bureaucratic approval for public approval."

After a first look at the Johnson proposals, however, the industry indicated it found nothing major on which it would disagree with the President.

One official commented: "It looks like the body of the proposal is reasonable and one which the industry would be hard put to defeat or defy. I would assume it would be difficult for us to oppose the legislation as I understand it."

In brief, the Johnson message called for:

- An authorization, but not a requirement, to the secretary of commerce to determine safety criteria for all vehicles.
- An increase in federal grants to states for highway safety projects.
- An expansion of the federal government's highway safety research efforts, including a national highway safety research and test center.

Industry sources, who had repeatedly expressed hopes that they would be allowed to work out safety problems without federal interference, were cheered by the timetable set up in the Johnson message.

First Joint Service Center

Schools In Six Counties Apply For Federal Funds

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP) — Public and parochial schools in six Ohio counties are seeking to join to get extra educational services none of the schools could afford on its own.

The schools have applied for $500,000 in federal funds to set up the first joint Supplementary Educational Service Center in Ohio. It would serve schools with nearly 50,000 pupils, 46,496 of them in public schools.

Plans call for locating the joint center at Roswell Elementary School near here, at a central location accessible to all schools. But plans are for two trucks to provide delivery service to get films, library materials and other equipment to schools in the program.

"These services, as proposed, are about 100 per cent unavailable to the schools of our county at present," said Carroll County School Supt. William H. Knisely. "However, alone, we could not achieve most of these services in the foreseeable future."

Tuscarawas County School Supt. Linton R. Honaker and W. E. Laws, a former Tuscarawas superintendent now a federal aid coordinator, led in developing the project. The application for federal aid said with such a central facility, schools would be able to work across county and district lines for projects and coordinate courses of instruction using material available from a larger area.

Plans call for a staff of 15 to operate the center. This would include a librarian, a data processing manager, research consultants and supervisors for elementary and second school programs.

The center would have a testing section and other divisions for research and training. It also would have a pool of equipment—such things as movie projectors or tape recorders—and a library of films, tapes, books and other supplementary teaching aids.

Honaker said it would give a "psychological lift" to people of the area, Carroll, Coshocton, Guernsey, Harrison, Holmes and Tuscarawas counties.

"I feel that this media center could and would go a long way in showing the people that they have been remembered and that somebody is willing to recognize the fact that they are willing to give us a real state to help themselves," he said.

Schools involved would be the six county systems; city or village schools in Cambridge, Dover, Claymont, New Philadelphia, Carrollton, and Newcomerstown and parochial schools in Dennison, Malvern and Dover.

HARRISBURG (AP) — The state Milk Control Commission says it has levied fines totaling $9,100 against eight milk dealers, including an $8,000 penalty against a Pittsburgh dairy.

The same violation brought one-day suspensions of licenses, or $50 fines, to Wagner's Dairy, Middleport; Nevala Dairy, Coft Center; and Ayrshire Dairy, St. Marys.

Glenmoor Department Sets New Firefighting Courses

The 22 members of the Glenmoor volunteer fire department are initiating a course of instruction to improve methods of local fire protection, Chief Kenneth Mills announced today.

Alfred R. Van Dyne, chief of the East Liverpool department will conduct weekly sessions totaling 30 hours for the department, with certificates to be awarded those successfully completing the course.

The services of the instructor are made available through the Trade and Industrial Vocational Education Service of the State Department of Education as part of the public service training program, Mills said.

The value of the training is recognized and recommended by the Division of State Fire Marshal, the Ohio Inspection Bureau and representatives of state firefighting organizations, he added.

The training will consist of instruction in firefighting skills and technical information pertaining to such subjects as community fire defense, care of apparatus, firefighting appliances and use of hose, rope and gas masks.

Written instructional material is made available to the instructor and each firefighter by the Division of Vocational Education, Mills said. The East Liverpool Board of Education is co-operating in the program, he pointed out.

Court Of Appeals Disposed Of 236 Cases During '65

There were 236 cases disposed of during 1965 in the 7th District Court of Appeals, according to the caseload summary released today by Judge George M. Jones.

This was second only to the 1st appellate district which is located in Cincinnati, the report said.

There were 190 new cases filed during the year, the largest number in any of the three-member courts in the state.

The 7th District comprises 13 counties — Columbiana, Ashtabula, Belmont, Carroll, Geauga, Harrison, Jefferson, Lake, Mahoning, Monroe, Noble Portage and Trumbull.

The other two judges are Nils P. Johnson and John J. Lynch both of Mahoning County.

Judge Jones, senior member of the three-man tribunal, has been notified that he has been called on by Chief Justice Kingsley A. Taft to sit on the Supreme Court of Ohio to review several tax appeals.

He will fill in for Supreme Court Judge Louis J. Schneider Jr., who must stand aside since the cases to be heard involve matters that were before Judge Schneider when he was Ohio tax commissioner.

Chester Fire Blamed On Bad Light Switch

A defective light switch in the basement was the cause of a fire which gutted the interior of the abandoned Chester Central School, Chester Fire Chief Alton Johnson said today.

E. L. Roush of Parkersburg, deputy fire marshal, assisted officers of the Chester department in determining the cause of the blaze which swept the 60-year-old brick building at Indiana Ave. and 3rd St. on Feb. 20.

Firemen reported at the time that the fire apparently had originated in the basement, but the cause was not established until the investigation by the fire marshal and officers.

The flames spread from the basement into a classroom and hallway on the first floor and then into a second floor classroom and corridor and into the attic.

Beaver County 1 Of 6 In Planning Program

PITTSBURGH — A multi-million dollar, five-year study of six counties to gather urban renewal information is underway by the Southwestern Pennsylvania Regional Planning Commission.

A. B. Kenney, commission chairman, said Wednesday that the project is aimed at getting "tremendous amounts of data" on almost all aspects of Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Butler, Westmoreland and Washington counties.

Sixty people are participating in the $3.5 million study, Kenney said. It will help the counties plan highway construction, mass transportation, parks and recreation facilities, historical and cultural programs and conservation, he said.

Five-sixths of the bill will be paid by the federal departments of Housing and Urban Development and Bureau of Roads and State Highways Department and the rest raised locally.

"Recent federal legislation has made regional planning a necessity if federal grants in aid are to be forthcoming," Kenney said.

By DR. GARRY MYERS
Others' Feelings Should Be Considered

Your child under five or seven may like to have you talk to him or read to him about doing right. Your older child may like to read about this himself. Why not try out your child on the following? When you have fun on a seesaw, you may like it most when you go up. Now, in order for you Dr. Garry Myers to go up, the person on the other end must go down. The farther down he goes, the farther up you go.

It seems to be that way sometimes when you want to "go up" and feel important. So you may try to feel you are smart by calling another person dumb. You may say to him, "Look at him trying to catch a ball. Now watch me."

SOMETIMES you hear another child at school brag about the good marks he gets. Always he means, "My marks are better than yours." You may have seen some child holding up a paper with good marks on it, hoping that children with poorer marks will see it. He would not do this if he did not feel the marks of some other children were lower. When we brag about anything we have, about our playthings, our clothes, our money or our homes, we try to go up and feel important. We mean that someone else does not seem as important as we are.

Sometimes we try to push ourselves up just by saying something ugly about another person. This is a nasty way of saying how much better we are than that person. We suppose that those who hear us say these ugly things will think we are much better than the person we push down.

WE ALSO try to push ourselves up and feel important when we make fun of another person. You and I know how we feel when someone else makes fun of our clothes, our playthings, or anything we have, or have done or said. We know how we feel when someone laughs at a question we ask, or at something we say in the classroom. We know how we feel when someone makes fun of what we say or do on the playground or at home.

When you and I make fun of some other person for such things, he must feel he has been pushed down by us so we might push ourselves up. I guess it's always true that when we make fun of anybody else, we are trying to tell him and ourselves how much better we think we are than he is.

But these other persons may not believe that we are better. They may, indeed, suppose we have really pushed ourselves down instead of pushing ourselves up. They might see how selfish we are. And, as you know, when anybody thinks we are selfish, they don't like us.

WHEN YOU and I think about this, we begin to see that the best way to push ourselves up is to push others up. Then we go along with them as if we were with them in an elevator. We find, as time goes on, that others like us then, and believe we are important. We decide then that the best way to go up in our own opinion and the opinion of others is to say nice things about what they have and do. We think more of ourselves for doing this, whether they hear what we say or not.

Saxbe Gives Ruling On Auditor Tax List

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, in an opinion to Licking County Prosecutor Neil M. Laughlin, said Wednesday a county auditor, with approval of the county treasurer, can compile a general tax list of real and public utility property "in a parcel numbering system keyed with a separate alphabetical listing."

But the ruling said an alphabetical list cannot be used for individual townships unless it applied for the entire county.

St. Joseph's Gets Even With Friars

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was sweet revenge for the St. Joseph's Hawks of Philadelphia. The Hawks, seventh-ranked nationally in The Associated Press college basketball poll, had been beaten twice last year by the eighth-ranked Providence Friars, once in the regular season and again in the NCAA East regionals.

They met for the first time this season Wednesday night at the Palestra in Philadelphia and the Hawks crushed the Friars 66-67 for their ninth straight victory and a season record of 22-4. "Revenge, revenge, revenge," chanted the crowd of 9,246 throughout the game as Matt Guokas with 21, and Cliff Anderson with 19, combined for 40 points in leading the rout. Jim Walker's 23 points led Providence, now 21-4.

The Hawks plan another revenge night against the Friars Monday night at Blacksburg, Va., where they meet in the first round of this season's NCAA tourney.

The game topped off a double-header. In the opener, LaSalle upset Louisville 96-92 behind Hubie Marshall's 42 points. The Explorers, on the upgrade from a dismal 4-14 mark, now have won six in a row. Wade Houston scored 30 for Louisville.

Unbeaten Texas Western and No. 2 in the AP poll made it 23 straight with a 73-56 road romp over New Mexico State. Another NCAA-bound team, Syracuse, similarly won on the road against Niagara 93-78 behind Dave Bing's 27 points and 16 rebounds.

A last-second basket by Keither Swagerty gave U. of Pacific a 63-63 regulation tie against San Jose State as he led the Tigers to a 77-73 overtime road triumph over the Spartans. Swagerty, a 6-foot-7 junior, scored 39 points altogether including the basket that put the Tigers ahead for good in the overtime 73-71.

Denver's Pioneers ended their first winning season in six years by defeating the Air Force at home 86-81. Harry Hollins scored 32 points and set a one season school record of 633 as DU ended the campaign with a 14-11 record.

Conversely, Notre Dame ended its worst season in years at 5-21 by losing to Creighton at South Bend 72-68.

Ohio's Leading Teams Face Stiff Tourney Tests

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some of Ohio's top-ranked high school basketball teams face stiff opposition this weekend in final sectional tournament activity.

The top game of the early tournament grind comes up Friday at Lima when No. 2 ranked Lima Shawnee (20-0) tangles with rugged Findlay (16-4) with the winner advancing to the Bowling Green district.

Findlay, the No. 12 club in the statewide ratings, boasts one of the state's top scholastic stars in Dave Sorenson, a 6-foot-6 center who hit 44 in his team's victory over Van Wert last weekend.

No. 1 ranked Canton McKinley (18-1) faces Fairless (16-4) in a Saturday clash; No. 3 Dayton Chaminade (19-1) should have little trouble Friday against Dayton Wilbur Wright and No. 4 Warren Harding (19-1) opposes Newton Falls (16-4) in a Saturday fray with the victor moving into the Youngstown district.

Toledo Libbey, fifth-ranked, meets Toledo St. Francis Friday; No. 8 Wellston (16-2) battles South Point Friday; No. 9 Columbus Linden (15-2) catches Columbus Brookhaven tonight and tenth-rated Columbus East (12-5) should have no trouble against Groveport (2-16) Friday.

The only quintet among the top ten victimized thus far was No. 6 Cleveland East Tech, which bowed to Cleveland John Kennedy 66-65 last week. Kennedy then was eliminated Wednesday night by Bedford Chene 59-55.

No. 7 Elyria (17-3) got by Midview Wednesday night 87-34 and plays in the Lorain district finale Friday.

In another important Wednesday game, Akron East, ranked in a tie for 12th with Findlay, won its 19th against a lone setback by beating Ravenna 60-41.

No. 11 Middletown (16-4) challenges Taylor Friday No. 14 Hamilton Garfield (17-3) plays Franklin Saturday and No. 15 Columbus West (15-2) has a duel Friday with Columbus South (10-7), last year's Class AA champion.

The AP's top ten in Class A are still in the running. No. 1 Springboro (19-1) battles Mason Friday and No. 2 Rossford (20-0) has a Friday engagement with Ottawa Hills.

Southern Methodist Grigger Dies On Field

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Tom White, who collapsed on the football field at Southern Methodist University, died early today in a Dallas hospital from a cardiac arrest.

Spot In Finals At Stake As Potters Meet Toronto

The East Liverpool Potters haven't won two tournament games since 1957 but will attempt to turn the trick tonight against Toronto in the semifinals of the Sectional Class AA tournament at Steubenville.

The Potters made it to the finals on a thread after coming from behind to nip Wellsburg, 70-67 Tuesday night.

EAST Liverpool and Toronto, who severed regular season relations this past campaign, will clash in the second game tonight at 8:30.

Top-seeded Winterville, with an overall 14-1 record, beaten only by Cambridge, makes its tournament appearance at 7 against a dangerous Steubenville Central team. The Crusaders are in the semifinals by virtue of a 68-65 win over Big Red in the first round game.

COACH Frank Chan's Potters, will take a seven-game winning streak into tonight's game after barely getting by Wellsburg in a game which saw the Potters in trouble from start to finish.

East Liverpool will have to contend with Toronto's scoring ace Dick Symons plus a well-balanced Red Knight team.

Symons, a 6-5 junior, was an All-District and third team all-state choice last season. He is averaging 23 points per game and is the team's leading rebounder.

HIS SIZE and all around play may cause the Potters some difficulty tonight. Symons scored 17 points and took 24 rebounds in Toronto's opening game victory over Jefferson Union Tuesday night.

The No. 2 and 3 men in the Toronto attack are Gary Fisher who stands 6 foot and Dan Allen who hits about 6-2.

Rounding out the starting lineup will be Denney Leasure and Larry Leasure who stand about 5-11.

Toronto, winner of the Buckeye Border Conference, compiled a 12-6 regular season mark. The Knights are coached by John Pape, former Chester High athlete and ex-Beaver Local floor coach.

McKeesport, Freedom Win

PITTSBURGH (AP) — McKeesport beat Monaca 67-44, and Freedom upset Norwin 64-51, in WPIAL Class A basketball action Wednesday night at the Pitt Field House.

In the first game, McKeesport and Monaca, tied eight times, the last at 61-all with 3:25 minutes left to play.

High scorers were McKeesport's Glenn Vidovic, 27 points, and Monaca's Phil Zoph with 25. The lead wavered back and forth ten times during the first half of the Freedom-Norwin game, with the score tied seven times.

James Lassiter, high scorer for Freedom's Bulldogs, scored 15 of his 21 points in the second half. Paul Naponick was high scorer for the Norwin Knights with 21.

The victories move McKeesport and Freedom into the quarter finals at the Civic Arena. Freedom faces Uniontown, a tournament favorite Monday and McKeesport will play the victor of today's Fox Chapel-Harbrack game on Tuesday.

4 Top Teams In Scoring Wait Tourney

NEW YORK (AP) — There could be some high-powered scoring in the NCAA basketball tournament this season if regular-season performances mean anything.

The nation's top four scoring teams already are set for the tournament, which begins next week.

According to statistics released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, Houston has the best game average of 100 points while Syracuse is second with 99.3, Oklahoma City third at 98.2 and Loyola of Chicago fourth at 98.

The averages of Houston and Syracuse are better than the all-time record of 98.4 points a game set by Miami of Florida last year.

Dave Schellhase of Purdue continues to lead the individual scoring race, averaging 32.5. Dave Wagon of Idaho State is second with 31.7 and Michigan's Cazzie Russell third at 30.2.

Parseghian Receives New 6-Year Contract

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Ara Parseghian, growing steadier by the year as Notre Dame's head football coach, has signed his third contract with the university.

The new one, announced Wednesday, is for six years. Previously, he originally was given a four-year pact in December 1963. After his first year, when the Irish had a 9-1 record, he was given a five-year contract. Last season, Parseghian guided Notre Dame to a 7-2-1 mark.

Bears' Defense Stops Foo 53-46

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Oak Glen, defeated twice during the regular season by Wellsburg, got revenge at the right time Wednesday night by upsetting the Orange Knights, 53-46, and advanced to the finals of the Section I AAA basketball tournament at Weirton High School.

The Golden Bears will return to action Saturday in the championship game against the winner of tonight's Follansbee-Weirton game.

Coach Bob Starkey, who saw his team lose its first game to Wellsburg by 73-60 and its second by an even greater margin of 90-55, figured if he could keep the big men tied up, the Bears would have a chance.

STARKEY figured right because Oak Glen put up a tight zone defense that kept Wellsburg's height out of the middle and caused numerous turnovers.

Oak Glen displayed a very aggressive defense that saw the Bears stealing the ball time after time.

WELLSBURG wasn't getting the good shot and wound up shooting only 28 per cent for the game and were cold the second half with only a 24 per cent shooting mark.

The Orangemen led in the early part of the game, but with Dan Clark and Tom Thayer hitting consistently enough, Oak Glen forged in front, 15-14, at the end of the first period and was on top, 25-22, at halftime.

ALTHOUGH Wellsburg tied the score at 29-29 in the third period and again at 35-35 with 6:43 remaining in the game, the losers never got in front of Oak Glen.

Starkey's team led, 35-31, at the end of the third quarter, but four consecutive foul conversions by Wellsburg knotted the count at 35-35.

It was at this point in the game that Oak Glen declared itself the winner.

CLARK hit a foul to put Oak Glen in front for good, 36-35, then followed with a basket. Marv Six added a foul and Thayer rang the field goal bell with 5:04 remaining in the game to push the lead to 41-35.

It was a matter of time after that brief spurt and Oak Glen led by as much as 11 points before the game came to an end.

Oak Glen's scoring twins of Clark and Thayer accounted for 15 points each while Bob Graham scored all seven of his points in the first half to keep the Bears a step ahead of Wellsburg. Dan Smith also added seven points and Dan Forsythe chipped in with six.

WELLSBURG showed only two cagers in the double figures, with Larry Lauffer, 6-1 senior, leading the attack with 17 points, but he wasn't around for the final buzzer after fouling out with 4:32 left in the game. Oak Glen shot 34 per cent hitting on 20 of 58 while Wells-burg hit only 16 of 57 for 28 per cent.

As for Saturday night's opponent, Oak Glen has split with Weirton in two games, but Follansbee holds two victories over the Bears.

THE WINNER of the Weirton Section I tournament will advance to regional play at Moundsville next week.

Both Oak Glen and Wellsburg entered last night's game with 10-10 marks and the victory was the fourth in a row for Oak Glen and its sixth win in its last seven games.

Celtics Hold 3-Game Lead In NBA Race

By The Associated Press

If the Boston Celtics are to be toppled from their lofty pedestal in the National Basketball Association, it apparently will have to be done in the playoffs.

The Celtics took another step toward their 10th straight Eastern Division title Wednesday night, trampling the New York Knicks 140-104.

In other games, Baltimore trimmed Los Angeles 119-113 and Detroit knocked off San Francisco 131-118.

The victory, their ninth straight over the Knicks, put the Celtics three games ahead of the idle Philadelphia 76ers.

It also put them in such a position that if they win only five of their remaining nine games, the 76ers would have to win nine of their last 11 for a tie.

Had To Pay Off Big Debt

Braves Moved To Obtain Fast Money, State Claims

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The prosecution in Wisconsin's anti-trust suit against baseball has adopted a strategy of painting the owners of the Braves as a group of men forced into moving the club to Atlanta because "they had to make money fast."

Willard Stafford, special counsel for the state and the legal team's chief prosecutor, continued Wednesday to try and link the "compelling financial personal problems" of the Braves' owners with their decision to transfer the franchise.

Stafford said as much in his opening statement when he remarked that "the Braves moved because the new owners wanted to pay off indebtedness of $3 million which they had created."

And he proceeded with that line as he called his first witnesses — Ralph Delforge, former secretary-treasurer of the Braves, and Gordon Volz, a certified public accountant from Madison, Wis.

Delforge testified that the club showed cash profits in 1963 and 1964 — part of the period in which the team's owners contend they lost $3.5 million.

Volz made some projections on Delforge's figures. They were highly technical. They also were highly objectionable to the defense.

Bowie Kuhn, National League attorney, asked that a standing objection to all questions on the subject be noted by the court.

"The basic issue in the case," said Stafford, "is what caused them to leave. We say borrowing led to the move. We say they left because they had thin equity and had to make money fast."

"We want to show what the compelling financial personal problems were so you can see the compelling reason they had to move."

Circuit Judge Elmer Roller, who eventually will rule in the case that tests the structure of baseball, allowed Stafford to continue.

Before Stafford began probing witnesses, Kuhn made an opening statement and laid out the defense that likely will be used by the National League and its 10 teams as the trial progresses.

Dealing individually with demands made in the suit by the state, Kuhn contended:

1. Return of the Braves to Milwaukee "would destroy them financially."
2. Such a return has been prohibited by a state court in Georgia and a federal court in Texas.
3. Expansion of the National League "is not only impossible but prohibited" by the Texas order.
4. The state is being used "as a tool of a private group . . . as part of a scheme to harass baseball into submission."

Twins Boss Has Problem Signing League Champs

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Grant, Tony Oliva and Zoilo Versalles helped make Cal Griffith baseball's executive of the year in 1965.

Now they've put him in the running for most troubled executive of 1966.

Griffith, president of the American League champion Minnesota Twins, leads Baltimore's Harry Dalton for AL honors and is running neck-and-neck with Buzzie Bavasi of the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers for the over-all title.

Dalton's problems are second baseman Jerry Adair, third baseman Brooks Robinson and outfielder Frank Robinson. Bavasi has pitchers Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale and shortstop Maury Wills to contend with.

Griffith, who headed a second-division team for seven of his first nine years as president, is finding it difficult to handle the financial desires of a championship team.

"We still are a long way apart," Griffith said Wednesday of his negotiations with Grant, the AL's winningest pitcher last season.

Grant earned about $21,000 while posting a 21-7 record last year and originally wanted $50,000 for 1966.

Oliva, who led the league in batting for the second straight year, received about $18,000 last season and seeks $35,000 now.

As for shortstop Versalles, the league's Most Valuable Player: "I am asking for $44,000 now. Calvin's last offer was $40,000. I have come down from $50,000, and he has come up from $38,000. His first offer was for a $10,000 raise."

Rich Flamingo Stakes Will Be Betless Race

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The vagaries of finance made today's $136,400 Flamingo Stakes an exhibition and never have so many run for so little — in betting, that is, for there will be none.

Hialeah Park officials, already hit by minus pools in two recent races, feared the powerful entry of Buckpasser and Stupendous would create a minus pool even with seven others in the race. They said they received permission of the Florida State Racing Commission to make the 37th running of the famed race a betless exhibition.

Never in racing history has there been a $100,000-added event without betting, even in the famous Nashua-Swaps match race for $100,000 in 1955.

State law requires tracks to pay off at the rate of 10 cents on the dollar. Thus when Buckpasser and Stupendous ran one-two in the Everglades Stakes 10 days ago, the track had to shell out $20,020.30 for the place pool. There was no show betting on the race.

On Tuesday, with 13 2-year-olds competing in the third race at Hialeah, the favored Firewarden went postward at 40 cents on the dollar and finished second, creating a minus pool of $301.45.

The big news at Hialeah Wednesday was Kelso's first race since last Sept. 22 at Aqueduct.

Mrs. Richard C. duPont's rich old gelding finished fourth in the Marlin, at six furlongs for a purse of $10,000. Kelso closed fast to earn $500 and boost his lifetime earnings to $1,977,886.

Another coupling in the Flamingo in addition to the Buckpasser-Stupendous entry, trained by Eddie Neloy, is the Robert Lehman pair of Turn For Home and Rehabilitate.

It costs $1,000 to enter and $1,000 to start. With nine going, the winner's share will be $88,660 and the coveted Flamingo Cup.

Thrown Out Of Chicago Ring

Clay, Terrell Will Fight In Montreal On March 29

MONTREAL (AP) — Scorned by New York and kicked out of Chicago, the Cassius Clay-Ernie Terrell heavyweight title bout skipped across the border to Montreal today for a hoped-for showing on the same date, March 29.

Bangor, Maine; Louisville, Ky.; and even Huron, S.D., had been mentioned as possible U.S. sites for the politically explosive fight until Main Bout, Inc., settled on Montreal Wednesday.

MBI, headed by Mike Malitz of New York and including Black Muslims among its stockholders, has the rights to the closed-circuit television and other ancillary income (movies, broadcasts, foreign showings, etc.) which usually adds up to millions, or the main share of the gross receipts.

After the Illinois Athletic Commission, by a 2-1 vote, thumbed down the fight which they originally licensed on Feb. 8, Malitz, in New York, announced Montreal, a sports-loving Canadian city with a metropolitan population of 2½ million as the fight site.

The Montreal Athletic Commission was scheduled to meet today to determine whether a license would be issued for the bout in the 15,000-seat Montreal Forum.

Loren Cassina, owner of All-Canada Sports Promotions Ltd. in Toronto, has made an application for the bout.

It was an outburst by Clay that apparently doomed the bout in Chicago.

Shortly after Clay's draft board in Louisville reclassified him to 1-A and made him eligible for the military draft, the 24-year-old undefeated champion made remarks about the war in Viet Nam — remarks called "unpatriotic" and "disgusting" by Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois. Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago also said he did not want the fight in the city.

Clay refused to make an apology suitable to the governor and the commission and the heat was on. William G. Clark, Illinois' attorney-general, found technical irregularities in the licensing of the fight and other reasons to deny a permit, and then tossed the matter back into the commission's lap.

Chairman Joe Triner and Joe Robichaux voted to deny the permit application while Lou Radzienda cast his vote in favor of the fight.

In Miami, Fla., Clay, who prefers to be called by his Muslim name of Muhammad Ali, said he was disappointed the fight would not be in the United States.

He added, however, that "if Illinois wanted to call off the fight, they have a right to."

Terrell, the 26-year-old Chicagoan who is recognized as champion by the World Boxing Association, blamed the Illinois Commission's action "on Clay's big mouth."

"How can anyone tell me he has common sense after he's played around with a million dollars that way," said Terrell at his training camp in Pleasantville, N.Y. "He made the Illinois Commission look foolish by not apologizing."

Senate Group Okays Thomas As U.S. Judge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nomination of William K. Thomas to become U. S. District Judge for northern Ohio was approved Wednesday by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

A Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court Judge, Thomas, 55, was appointed last Oct. 18 to succeed U. S. District Judge Paul Jones, who died last August, but the Senate adjourned before confirming the appointment.

Family Food Bill Receives Another Jolt

NEW YORK (AP)—The family food bill received another jolt this week.

Beef prices touched the highest mark in three years. The prices of butter and eggs rose, and it looks as if milk will follow next month.

The increases came as the U.S. Department of Labor reported January food prices were 4.5 per cent higher than in January 1965.

Prime and choice cattle were expected to remain in short supply in the weeks ahead.

Butter prices, up 2 cents a pound last week on the West Coast, rose another 3 to 4 cents this week. They are up to 1 to 3 cents in Chicago and 4 cents in the New York area.

Egg prices jumped 2 to 4 cents a dozen in the New York area this week and 1 to 2 cents in West Coast markets.

Small turkeys are featured in many areas. Supplies are big.

Lamb is beginning to move to market and may be on special next week.

Potato supplies are much above last year, and prices are down.

City Asks Report In All Household Sewer Troubles

The Board of Public Utilities said today any householder who finds a blockage or other difficulty in his sanitary sewer lines should make a report promptly to the sewage department office at City Hall.

The sewage department will investigate quickly to determine if the fault resulted from a stoppage in the city's sewer mains or if the householder's lines are at fault, the board said.

If the city's lines are not at fault, the householder will be advised in order that he can summon a plumber to rectify the trouble, the board said.

The board said the city is responsible only for the lateral extending from the main sewer to the property. If a plumber is called before the city is notified, the city will disallow any damage claims, the board said.

The board cited a section of the City Code which provides that cellar floor drains and fixtures installed in cellars "may be discharged into sanitary sewers when properly trapped against back pressure."

2 Killed, 8 Injured In Three-Car Pileup

By The Associated Press

Two men killed in a three-car pileup on Dayton's west side in which eight other persons were injured are among Ohio's latest traffic victims.

The dead: James F. Beaver, 24, Dayton. Bob Bennett, 44, Miamisburg. Beaver and Bennett, passengers in two of the three cars involved, were killed outright in the crash shortly before midnight Wednesday. All of those injured were hospitalized.

Police said one of the cars went left of center, struck another and careened into the third vehicle.

Judge Sends Local Man To State Hospital

A probation request by a former East Liverpool man indicted on a forgery charge in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon led to a discovery of a previous conviction and then to commitment to Lima State Hospital for an indefinite period.

The defendant, Robert Earl Donohue, 23, formerly of River Rd., was indicted by the September Grand Jury on a forgery charge. At arraignment Sept. 27, he pleaded not guilty before Judge Joel H. Sharp and was placed under a $1,000 bond.

Two days after arraignment, Donohue withdrew his plea of not guilty, entered a plea of guilty to offense and requested probation.

His request for probation was denied Dec. 14 when the investigation revealed that Donohue had been found guilty of contributing to the delinquency of an 11-year-old boy and a 13-year-old girl. Judge Sharp then ordered him sent to Lima State Hospital, where he was adjudged a psychopathic offender but not mentally ill or incompetent.

Judge Sharp sentenced Donohue to a 1-to-20-year term at Ohio State Reformatory on the forgery charge, but suspended it so that the defendant may be committed indefinitely to Lima to show the offense of which Donohue has been convicted and the minimum and maximum penalties.

Court System Data Detailed

LISBON — Charles A. Pike, Lisbon attorney, spoke on higher courts Wednesday night at the third of a series of four non-political education lectures sponsored by the Mid-County Republican Club at the Village Hall.

Pike said the Supreme Court of Ohio has seven elected judges and the Court of Appeals is divided into 10 districts each having three elected judges. Columbiana County is in the Seventh District.

The Court of Appeals meets three times a year in each district to review cases appealed to it from lower courts. These courts do not have juries or hear witnesses testify, Pike said.

In Common Pleas Courts, criminal cases have two classifications — felony and misdemeanor. Pike explained a felony involves cases of more than $300 and misdemeanors less than $300.

County Courts, he said, handle cases under $300 although they can go as high as $500. County Courts in Columbiana County include all of the county except East Liverpool, Liverpool Township and parts of St. Clair Township. Cases in this area are handled by the Municipal Court in East Liverpool, he said. County Courts replace former justices of the peace.

Federal judges are appointed by the president for life terms. Pike said lawyers must determine by the facts in a case which court the case should be tried in.

The speaker answered questions posed by members of the Lisbon High School civics class and others in the audience.

Mrs. Alton Crothers, president of the club, introduced Pike and announced the final lecture will be on the duties of election officials on election day. Speaking will be Mrs. Walter Cope.

Child, 7, Hurt As She Darts In Car's Path

A 7-year-old girl escaped with minor injuries when she darted into the path of an auto Wednesday at 5:02 p. m. on Pennsylvania Ave. at Mulberry St., police reported.

Lynn Anne Bayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Bayer of 953 Pennsylvania Ave., was treated at City Hospital for a bruise of the left hip. Officers said she ran into the path of an eastbound 1960 sedan operated by John N. Gray Jr., 54, of Meredith St.

Gray took the youngster to the hospital. He said he was driving east about 15 to 20 miles an hour when she ran in front of his car. He said he applied his brakes, but too late to avoid hitting the girl.

Two cars were damaged in a mishap Wednesday at 2:37 p. m. on Morton St. 40 feet east of St. Clair Ave., officers reported.

The collision involved a 1960 two-door sedan driven by Albert A. Abdalla, 42, of S. Surrey Rd. and a 1959 station wagon operated by Charles B. Trowbridge, 53, of 1004 St. Clair Ave., officers said.

The mishap damaged the right rear of Abdalla's car and the right front of Trowbridge's car, police said.

Abdalla reported he had just backed off a parking lot and started to pull forward. He said he did not see Trowbridge approaching.

Trowbridge reported he had just turned off St. Clair Ave. when he saw Abdalla's car in front of him. He said his car was moving only 5 to 8 miles an hour, but when he applied the brakes it slid about 2 to 3 feet and hit the Abdalla car.

Parole Violation Brings Sentence In Reformatory

LISBON — Violations of five terms of a probation order resulted in a 1-to-15-year sentence in the Ohio State Reformatory Wednesday for a former Wellsville resident.

Common Pleas Court Judge Joel H. Sharp found that Robert Lee McCune, 21, formerly of 502 13th St., Wellsville, had violated the first, second, third, fourth and seventh terms of the order.

McCune was arraigned Jan. 18, 1965, on a burglary charge and pleaded not guilty. He was placed under $1,000 bond.

On Feb. 2, 1965, he withdrew his plea of not guilty, entered a plea of guilty and requested probation. In the indictment, he was accused of the Aug. 10, 1964, night burglary of the Wellsville Feed and Supply Co.

Man Receives Fine, Suspended Sentence

A Wellsville man who had told police his car had been stolen was fined and given a suspended jail sentence on a hit-skip charge at a hearing today before Mayor William Daugherty of Wellsville.

Jack Lawrence of 1617 Chester Ave. was fined $50 and costs and given a five-day suspended jail sentence for leaving the scene of an accident as the result of a series of incidents Monday night and early Tuesday morning.

Police said Ollie Mae Foreman of 210 Lisbon St. reported Monday night her car was damaged by a hit-skip motorist in front of her home. About an hour later, Lawrence reported to police his car had been stolen. It was found about two hours later at the Roadside Park on Route 45, with damage which indicated it was involved in the crash with the woman's car, police said.

The charges against Lawrence were filed by police following an investigation.

Rocks Cleared Away After Hancock Slide

Workers from the State Road Commission garage worked until about 6 p. m. Wednesday clearing away rock which fell across the Chester - Newell Rd., about 200 feet north of the Newell Bridge, early yesterday afternoon.

Lawrence Ryan, foreman at the Pughtown garage, said a check this morning showed no additional rock had fallen since the slide partially blocked the road.

Deputy sheriffs directed traffic around the slide until road commission crews could bring in equipment to clear up the debris. Some larger boulders were dragged off the road by truck and other debris was shoveled off, he said.

Workers also climbed up the steep bank to knock loose some over rocks which had been loosened by the slide, Ryan said.

Bettis

prosecutor's office moves quickly when children are involved.

AT PRESENT the penalty for sexual offenses ranges from 1 to 10 years, depending on the type of crime. The Ohio parole board usually determines the length of the term.

Bettis said he is in favor of fully publicizing the names of those guilty of sex crimes.

When asked if sex education in the schools would help reduce this type of crime, he said he favors proper instruction at the proper age.

Several asked what can be done locally to combat the problem of the homosexual. Bettis replied, "If each parent would instruct his children not to become friendly with strangers, not to go anywhere with them, especially in cars, sexual crimes among children could be almost completely controlled."

In presenting a breakdown of cases filed in Common Pleas Courts, he listed major crimes and felonies as murder, non-negligent homicide, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny and auto theft.

Minor crimes include assaults, forgery, embezzlement, prostitution and commercialized vice, sex offenses, offenses against family and children, narcotic drug laws, liquor offenses, disorderly conduct, gambling, driving while intoxicated and other traffic offenses.

Bettis declared Ohio has had an overall increase of 13 per cent in crimes reported by police and those that have reached a common pleas court level have decreased 4 per cent statewide. In Columbiana County, the increase has been about 10 per cent from 1964-65 at the common pleas level.

Homosexuals Seen As Extortion Victims

NEW YORK (AP) — Eminent educators, including at least two deans of Eastern universities, prominent theatrical personalities and officers of the armed services — all homosexual — have been the victims of an extortion ring, the New York Times said today.

The ring has operated throughout the nation for nearly 10 years, the Times said.

The story also said in part: So brazen is the operation that in one instance two gang members, posing as New York City detectives, walked into the Pentagon and walked out with a high officer in the armed services.

The man, whom they shook down for several thousand dollars, committed suicide the night before he was scheduled to testify before a New York County grand jury.

This was learned Wednesday from the police and sources in the district attorney's office.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Folk: We have many complaints from mothers and daddies about their children's rocking-horses.

There's no doubt about it, this is a good exercise, but the main complaint is that it spoils the beautiful waxed floors.

Many of these toys are kept in the kitchen where mothers do their laundry.

With linoleum, asphalt tile and all the different kinds of floor coverings, this causes quite a problem, as it scratches, makes indentations, etc.

The only answer I have found is to buy some weatherstripping (which is ordinarily used on windows, and can be bought by the yard at your hardware store, and is very inexpensive). Apply this to the bottom of the rockers of the rocking horse!

This will put a soft, felt-type base on those hard rockers, and they will not mar your floors so badly.

Also, instead of the child just rocking that horse across the floor... it will stay in one place.

HELOISE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: When I get a hole in a sock, I just turn the sock wrong side out so the hole is on the inside!

JOHN THE BACHELOR.

Dear Heloise: A note for the seamstress:

I suggested that for future jobs of this kind, she unseal the END. The portion sealed when the envelope is made, is easy to unstick, and that leaves only a small part of the flap to be loosened.

A USELESS HUSBAND.

This does work. We tried it on 10 envelopes. Also, have you ever heard of holding it over the spout of a steaming tea kettle or coffee pot? Absolutely falls open.

And once dried, it can be relicked.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Knit sleeves cut from a baby's discarded shirt are wonderful to cover bandages on small hands or feet to keep them clean. This also helps to keep the bandages in place.

M. HOLDER.

DEAR HELOISE: When I was a little girl, I wore ribbons in my hair.

As I ate breakfast, my mother gave the ribbons a fresh press by moving them over the top of a tea kettle of hot water.

If they were badly wrinkled, she placed them over the steam coming out, then ran them over the hot kettle.

The first steam-ironing!

Watch that your fingers don't get too close.

MRS. V. BACKUS.

DEAR HELOISE: We have found that it is a good idea to keep a couple of coffee or other cans in the trunk of the car.

They come in handy for many things—getting water, throwing sand or soil under the tires in slippery weather, picking berries if we come across any in the woods, etc.

HELEN.

Try putting pins in a cake of paraffin instead of a pin-cushion, and watch them glide through the material the next time they are used.

Paraffin is good also when used on thread before sewing on buttons. Simply run the thread across the wax the same as you would beeswax.

SHIRLEY HYATT.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's an easy way to freshen rolls and buns:

I put them in a heat-proof bowl, sprinkle some water on them, put a tight cover on and pop it all in a 350-degree oven for five or ten minutes, and they come out perfect.

My family never knows the difference.

LAZY.

DEAR HELOISE: Recently my wife needed to open an envelope she had already sealed and stamped. She tried to tear the whole flap from the envelope where it had been well sealed. This left a very ragged flap which had to be fastened down with tape, which made a messy job.

I suggested that for future jobs of this kind, she unseal the END. The portion sealed when the envelope is made, is easy to unstick, and that leaves only a small part of the flap to be loosened.

Junior Editors Quiz on
MONA LISA

QUESTION: What is the secret of Mona Lisa's smile?

ANSWER: The famous picture of Mona Lisa was painted by the great Italian, Leonardo da Vinci, who lived between 1452 and 1519. It is a portrait of the wife of a merchant, Francesco del Giocondo, and is often called La Gioconda. Up to that time pictures had mostly been of events or religious ideas. This was one of the first portraits of a real human being, or special interest because she seems so warm and human; we can almost see her thinking. What is she thinking about? Perhaps this is the secret of La Gioconda's fame everyone is trying to guess her own secret. The faintest of smiles plays over her lips—but again, what is she smiling about? No one really knows, but everyone has his own idea. Here is our artist's special theory. "Most people in portraits," he says, "give me the feeling they are thinking about themselves. But this wise, lovely lady looks deeply into your eyes and seems to think about you rather than herself. Somehow, she seems to have guessed your secret. And she gives the impression that even if she shares your secret, she will keep it in confidence. She is smiling because she is your friend."

FOR YOU TO DO: Find a color reproduction of Mona Lisa and look deeply into her eyes. See if you agree with our artist. If not, work out your own explanation of that wise but tantalizing smile.

Pat Duncan of Bremerton, Wash., wins today's com-ed prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, March 3, the 62nd day of 1966. There are 303 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1931, by act of Congress, "The Star-Spangled Banner" became the National Anthem, although it had been popularly recognized as such for many years.

On this date:

In 1845, Florida, the 27th state, was admitted to the Union.

In 1847, Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, was born in Edinburgh, Scotland.

In 1849, the territorial government of Minnesota was established.

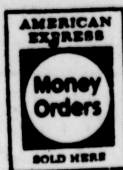

In 1944, U.S. fighter planes made their first appearance over Berlin.

In 1945, the American 9th and Canadian 1st armies joined fronts as the Nazis retreated all along the Rhine.

Ten years ago — A U.S. Air Force Globemaster carrying 17 persons, mostly Air Force personnel, crashed in the North Atlantic; there were no survivors.

Five years ago — A solid-fueled, four-stage Blue Scout 2, called the "poor man's rocket," was successfully launched at Cape Canaveral, Florida.

One year ago — The first of the Great Science measures, the Appalachia bill, was passed by Congress.
